

Handling of Access Data obtained through this web site

1. Access Data we collect from Users

This web site may collect and use the following types of access data from visitors.

Access logs: Information from users' access logs, including IP addresses, access times and dates, referrers, accessed files and browser type.

We only use access logs data to improve the user experience on our websites and services

Cookies: Cookies are small files that are stored on user's device by your web browser. If you are concerned about having cookies on your computer, you can set your browser to refuse all cookies or to indicate when a cookie is being set, allowing you to decide whether to accept it. You can also delete cookies from your device. However, if you choose to block or delete cookies, certain features of our websites or services may not operate correctly.

We use cookies to authenticate the validity of user accounts, check on the login status of users, and improve the user experience on our websites and services. The table below provides more details regarding the cookies we use, the information they collect, why we use them, and when they expire.

Cookie	Information collected	Purpose	Expiry
Session cookie (XSRF-TOKEN, laravel_session)	Input information on the Web Form	To keep the input information when moving to another page	Upon the close of the Browser

2. Lawful Basis for Processing

We only process access data where we have a lawful basis to do so, such as the following:

Consent: We may process your access data when you have given us permission to process your access data for a given purpose.

Legitimate Interests: We may process your access data based on our legitimate interest. We believe many of our purposes will be helpful not only for us but also for you, as it allows us to improve our products and services to be better oriented to your needs.

3. Access Data Shared with Third Party Service Providers

The following third-party providers may have access to the access data collected by us.

Google Analytics: Google Analytics sets and accesses cookies on your computer or other device to collect information such as the numbers of visitors to our websites, where visitors have come to the websites from, and the pages they have visited. This website uses Google Analytics to help collect and analyze certain information to engage in analysis, auditing, research and reporting. You may review Google Analytics' security and privacy principles by clicking here:

<https://policies.google.com/privacy?hl=en>

and opt out of the use of cookies in web browsers by Google Analytics by clicking here:

<https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=en>

4. Other Information

We assume absolutely no responsibility with respect to the access data protection of third parties linked from this web site. For other information regarding the processing of your data, please refer to the Kuraray Group's Privacy Policy.